JOSH GORMLEY

OBJECTIVE

To use my experience and skills in a team environment to create top-notch software that excites the client and delights the user. With experience in both the technical and creative ends, I can contribute to the entire project life-cycle. I have over eight years of experience building quality web applications, websites, and e-learning courses for fortune 500 companies. Add to that a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree and you get a creative techie who is hard working and committed to getting the job done.
